English Tutor

A creative, friendly university student looking to pass on my advanced knowledge to pupils seeking help with their studies.

About me:

I am a student at the University of Glasgow working on a joint honours degree in English Literature and Philosophy, in the hope of becoming an English teacher in a secondary school upon completion. I love furthering my own studies and am passionate about helping others do the same: I want to use my own experience to help students reach their goals and improve their attainment.

Areas of expertise:

- basic literacy and understanding skills
 - close reading
- verbal presentations
 - essay writing
- dissertation supervision
 - exam preparation
- personal statement guidance for college and university applications

Teaching Style:

- My teaching style varies amongst students; I will always create personalised lessons which will suit the student's learning style.
- Using the curriculum, I use creativity to engage students with the course and to foster a great learning environment.

Relevant English qualifications:

- Advanced Higher – A
- Higher – A
- Standard Grade – 1

Relevant Experience:

- Voluntary work as a Girls' Brigade leader
- Dance teacher assistant
